Page 120, line 14, after “executive branch agency for activities of the Commission.”, insert “The construction of the national World War I Memorial at Pershing Park is a long, overdue tribute to those who sacrificed for freedom in the Great War. World War I Memorial efforts have been in the works since 1960, and Congress has affirmed on several occasions a desire to pay tribute to veterans of World War I. The Committee is hopeful necessary approvals for the Memorial will be granted soon, so construction can commence. The Committee urges other Federal agencies, as appropriate, to robustly support and participate in World War I Centennial Commission commemoration activities, particularly in honor of the 100th anniversary of Armistice Day.”.
