1 SEC. 219. NATIONAL STRATEGY ON THE MICROELEC-
2 TRONICS INDUSTRIAL BASE.

3 (a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 1 year after the 4 date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall issue
5 a national strategy for supporting and fostering the do-
6 mestic microelectronics industrial base to support defense,
7 national security, and national economic priorities.

8 (b) ELEMENTS.—The strategy required by subsection
9 (a) shall include the following:

10 (1) Goals for assessing the health and viability
11 of the domestic microelectronics industrial base to 12 support production of state of the art practice and 13 next generation designs, tools, and production capa-
14 bilities.

15 (2) Identification of opportunities to link gov-
16 ernment design and development capabilities with 17 domestic industrial base providers to develop public-
18 private partnerships for sustaining and developing

1 state of the art microelectronics foundry designs,
2 tools, and production capabilities.

3 (3) Recommendations for improving the syn-
4 chronization of review and assessment of foreign ac-
5 quisition or technology transfer for microelectronics
6 intellectual policy impacting the domestic microelec-
7 tronics industrial base, including coordination with 8 international partners and allied governments.

9 (4) Improvements to the interagency coordina-
10 tion and enforcement of the use and integration of 11 trusted microelectronics in critical national security
12 systems.

13 (5) Identification of known or suspected viola-
14 tions of World Trade Organization rules by domestic 15 or foreign competitors in the microelectronics indus-
16 trial base, including recommendations for responding
17 to such violations.

18 (6) Recommendations for incentives at the Fed-
19 eral, State, and local level to attract and retain in-20 vestment in businesses in the microelectronics sector,
21 including adjustments to tax and trade policy.

22 (c) FORM.—The strategy required by subsection (a)
23 shall be unclassified, but may include a classified annex.
