(5) Rejection of plan by super-majority of legislature.—If, during the 7-day period which begins on the date the members of the commission vote at the meeting under paragraph (2) to approve the final plan for enactment, four-fifths of the membership of each house of the legislature of the State adopts a resolution disapproving such final plan, the following shall apply:

(A) The final redistricting plan developed and published under this subsection shall not be enacted into law.

(B) During such 7-day period, the legislature may submit an alternative redistricting plan to the governor of the State. If such alternative plan is in compliance with the criteria set forth in subsection (a), and if the governor approves such alternative plan during such 7-day period, such alternative plan shall be enacted into law.

(C) If during such 7-day period, the legislature does not submit an alternative redistricting plan which is in compliance with the criteria set forth in subsection (a) to the governor of the State under subparagraph (B), or if the legislature submits such an alternative redistricting plan to the governor under such subparagraph and the governor fails to approve the alternative plan during such 7-day period, the redistricting plan for the State shall be developed and enacted in accordance with part 3.

(5) The adoption by a super-majority of each house of the legislature of the State of a resolution disapproving the final plan of the independent commission, as described in section 2413(d)(5), unless an alternative redistricting plan of the legislature of the State is enacted into law as provided under subparagraph (B) of section 2413(d)(5).

(6) After the adoption by a super-majority of each house of the legislature of the State of a resolution disapproving the final plan of the independent commission, as described in section 2413(d)(5), the failure of the governor of the State to approve an alternative redistricting plan of the legislature of the State, as provided under subparagraph (C) of section 2413(d)(5).
